SIGHTS OF AN OCTOBER SATURDAY. MEN WHO WERE SEEN AND WHAT THEY SAID.

THE STROLLER'S WALK UP BROADWAY - POLI-TICIANS AND MEN OF BUSINESS.

When one has been away among the green hills for the summer, has breathed the tresh air of the mountains, has enjoyed the luxury of the fragrant pines and ferns, the first impression on returning to the narrow confines of the city is unpleasant. The streets look narrow and dirty. You look out toward the sky from between the rows of tall houses and missing the hilltops and the mountains sigh for them as for a dream Shat is past. The hurrying throng that ebbs and flows In the atreets gives a stroller little opportunity for reflection. It requires observation and alertness, even to one's place in the shifting multitude. The TRIBUNE stroller began his Saturday walk by an invaaton of the office of Inspector Brynes, who presules over the detective bureau of the city. He was just stepping briskly into his private room when I arrived there at an early hour. His low Derby hat was pulled well over his shrowd Scotch face and he was pulling with one hand at his large fron gray mustache. But not a thing or a person in either of the rooms or the long passage leading to them escaped his observation. I saw his eyes shoot glances right and left, taking plereing looks at every person in the room. There were a dozen detec tives in the main office waiting for instructions and they were soon hurrying off on special or general missions, and soon the Inspector himself hurried away without any one knowing of his departure.

Passing out into Broadway I encountered the dapper little figure of Judge William L. Muller, who is the recognized right-bower of Governor Hill. Judge Muller was born and reared in New-York City, although he has Hill's partner. He told me that his mission down town was to rent a house here. He intends to bring his family to the city, to make this his abiding place for the winter and possibly for the future.

Near Union Square I met M. C. Murphy, whose hand is powerful in Democratic politics in this city at the present time. His stout and well-rounded form and genial face is well-known to all politicans. He is a member of the New Amsterdam Club and spends much of his time there, when the Legislature is not in session. We fell to talking about the city election when he expressed the opinion that the fates were promising further political fortune to Mayor Grace. Said he: "It seems as if Grace's luck was invincible. Everything is tending to ward his re-nomination and re-election. I see that he has been pressed by a reporter until he admits that there might be contingencies in which he would accept a nomination. I presume be binted at a union between Tammany and the County Democracy. My own impression is that he would accept also if Tammany should indorse Henry George, of which there is some possi-bility. Your people have made a good nomination for Judge of the Court of Appeals," continued the Senator, changing the subject, "but Judge Peckham will be elected. I asked some of your people yesterday what majority they anticipated down to Harlem Bridge and no one said over 40,000 to 45,000. The Democratic majority in Kings, Queens and Dutchess Counties will be above 60,000. The contest over the Mayoralty in New-York City will bring out every last Democratic vote and the majority will be more than the Republicans can overcome in the State."

A tall, fine-looking man, carefully dressed to black broadcooth, with a silk hat, passed me at a rapid calt on his way downtown. It was ex-Governor Bullock, of Georgia, who is at the head of a large cotton factory at Atlanta. He has been letting his wuiskers grow, and his large face is now adorned with a full gray beard. Mr. Bullock started life at Albany, where he was born. His first important business connection was in telegraphy. He organized and put in operation through New-York State what was known as the House Printing Telegraph. He lived in those days at Utica, but went South in 1857. He served in the army, settled in the South after the war, and was one of the few so-called carpet-baggers who persisted in staying in the South through all the social and political persecutions to which they were subjected, until he has become a fixture there and has attained prosperity.

Sarony, the artist, short, stout, grizzled and "Frenchy " looking, with his wife, taller by a head than he, comes down the street. I hear that the photographer has removed his Union Square exhibition rooms two flights nearer the sky and closer to his operating rooms. There is a queer movement, by the way, in prices of cabinet photographs. With the majority of photographers, prices have been reduced, and some good galleries take orders as low as $3 a dozen, but one up-town photographer who has worked for and secured a "run" on the strict and public persons has put his price up to $10 a dozen.

About Madison Square, the Fifth Avenue Hotel and the Hoffman House I and that the well-known people are thick. General Sperman is coming out of the Fifth Avenue in a dusty sack coat of brown material, pulling away at the stub of a eigar which he holds between his teeth in much the same way as General Grant used to do. The General is extremely gray, and his stubby beard that the same way as the stubby beard to the same way that the same like the growth

As the General disappears up Broadway, I discove Senator Eugene Hale, of Maine. He enjoyed the reputation of being the smallest sized man in the United States Senate, until Wisconsin sent Mr. Spooner to take away his laurels. Neither of these men are of the small calibre mentally that their bodies are physically. Senator Hale laughed as I asked him about the Maine canvass and said in a quiet way that for an off year and with the opposition of the Prohibitionists and the desperate efforts made by them, the Republican victory in Jaina was really a great one. He regards the defeat of the third party effort as a crushing one, indicative of the deciline of that movement since it was turned into an anti-Kepublican crusade.

Ex-Senator Kernan, of Utioa, bearing his gray bairs and seventy old years with the erect stature of an In dian chief, was in the corridor of the Fifth Avenue 110 tel. I told him of the remark of his son, the Railroad Commissioner, who is gray at forty, and says he done not like to appear in company with his father because of the reflection of his own gray hairs, upon the latter. The Senator laughed, as he said: "My boys are always getting off jokes on me, and generally at the expense my personal appearance. When I was a candidate for United States Senator I did not go to Abbany at all. I had seen so many men make fools of themselves in attempting a personal canvass that I concluded to stay at home. But my sons were there. On the night before the cancus friends of other candidates hung partraits of their favorites about the hotels and the headquarters of the factions. The reporters came to my son' Nick' and wanted him to get out a picture of me. One of my friends near't the reply and he reported it to me. Said he: 'No, I shall not put out any picture of father, for if we have to run I father on his beauty he is beat already.' Senator Kernan is still actively engaged in practising law, and it brings him frequently to New-York. my personal appearance. When I was a candidate for Another notable figure in the Pifth Avenue Hotel is ex-Governor Brown, of Tennesee, the receiver of the Missouri Pacific Rattroad. He is a typical Southern man in appearance, tail and spare, but large in frame His face is lean, with prominent cheek bones and nose deep eyes, heavy eyebrows and a large and long-pointer goatee and mustacne. He dresses carefully in black broadcloth. The only thing needed to give him the look of a Southerner of the "days before the war" is one of the old-style soft hats with a broad brim which they used to wear. He prefers a silk hat of the approved style. He is a man of executive abilities and great forcefor power.

The Rev. Dr. John Hall is walking briskly up the street. He looks like an overgrown boy with his plump round figure, over six feet in height, and his smooth, white, full face. There is power and vigor in his large frame and hig head. He is dressed in black broadcioth, and wears a slik hat. His right hand is bare, while his left is gived in black.

Captain Michael Cregan comes along with a jaunty air, his head held high and a light came flashing by his side. He declares that Tam many will not indorse George, that the County Democracy can not get a union with Tam-linely, and that the Republicans can elect a Mayor.

DE BENSAUDE'S THREATENED SUIT. Little Mr. De Bensaude made no attemp yesterday to disturb the peace of the Sabbath, Mi-s Cameron or Lord Lonsdale. He remained at his new quarters, a furnished room in Ninth-st., until his lawyer quarters, a furnished room in Ninth-st., until his lawyer called to consult him about the sult for $100,000 dammages for the alicoatton of his wife's affections, when he says he is going to bring to-day against Lerd Lonsonle, william J. Newman, he Bensaude's bondman, said yester-lay that the statement about he Bensaude receiving a lot of money on Saturday was abourd. The man hasn't a nickie so far as I am awate." He alided. "Why, his counsel had to buy a pack-see of eigarettes for him." His buil was paid at the Motten House, however, by somebody, his counsel, it is thought, since he has secured Mr. Newman for the amount of the bond.

Lord Lonsdale was engaged most of the day witnessing a rehearsal and looking after general matters connected with the company. He laughed at the hea of Do Bengaude soing him. "Let him sue," he said, "for all teare. He'll never get a penry from me. My wife warned me about him when I showed her my contracts with Miss Cameron and the company. "Miss Cameron, she said, "is a lady of freeproschable character, but look out for her husband, he is a bad fellow, and may give you trouble."

"When is your wife coming here!"

"When is your wife coming here!"

"Her coming will depend upon her health. She hart her back while out riding recently and this may keep her at home. I had her entire approval when I went into this business, which De Bensaude is doing his best to ruis."

MINISTER PENDLEION WILL NOT RESIGN. Francis E. Pendleton, son of George H. Pendleton, the American Minister at Berlin, and his sister returned from a tour of England and the Continent in the Cunard steamship Etruri a yesterday. Mr. Pendicton said that the rumor that his father was to resign was wholly unfounded so far as he knew. "Father is well satisfied with his position and has grown fond of Berlin." he said. "He is in excellent health and in as good spirits as could be expected in view of his domestic afflictions."

GAS WELLS AND EARTHQUAKES. To the Editor of The Tribune. SIR: Among the various theories advanced and hypotheses proposed to account for the present earthquake phenomena in this country there seems to have been no consideration of the question as to want effect the with trawal of the earth's gases may have had and be having upon the earth's crust.

Every natural gas well is a tap-hole of a hitherto practically hermetically scaled reservoir, and the pressure with which the gas issues indicates to a certain dethe overlying crust, or keeping it in a fixed and stable position, and the aggregate pressure of all the natural gas-flows is the measure of the support withdrawn. There are no available statistics to show this aggregate pressure, but it is certainly enormous, and would seem sufficient to account for local seismic disturbances.

The effect of this natural gas escape upon weak parts of the overlying strata is apparently much the same as would be the effect upon substance made up of layers resting upon inflated bags when the air was allowed to escape from the bags unequally, viz., a subsidence and tilting, followed by a slipping of different layers.

I have for several years expected disturbances of this kind in Pittsburg and elsewhere in the natural gas belt, and look for an increase rather than a decrease of the trouble. It is quite probable, however, that any disturbance from that cause would be first any disturbance from that cause would be first and most strongly felt in the immediate vicinity of a subterranean reservoir of gas, which might be at some distance from the point where the gas stream was tapped; or, again, the greatest disturbance might and probably would be observed where because of the absence of a natural arch to the overlying strata the withdrawal of the gas support would most weaken it.

That section of the country throughout which the vibratory currents have been most pronounced may be more or less directly connected with the natural gas belt, but nowever this may be an attempt to conform to new conditions of underpinning, on a sufficiently large scale by any portion of the surface in the gas belt, would set in motion an earth tremor which would be widely feit.

It would be interesting to have this question discussed by our scientific brethren for it may be that the peace and sacurity of a large section of the country is dikind in Pittsburg and elsewhere in the natural gas beit,

MEMORIES OF A VETERAN PRINTER.

MEMORIES OF A VETERAN PRINTER.

To the Editor of The Tribune.

Sir: The Mr. Utiel Crocker, of Cohnset, Mass., spoken of in a recent "Fersonal" in The Tribune.

Uns, is an old typo. Sixty odd years ago when I first knew him he was foreman of the printing office of the late S. T. Armstrong, of Boston, with whom he had also served an apprenticeship. In those days a boy had to serve seven years to learn the printers' trade, but he learned something more than merely "sticking" type.

First-ave. The delegates from the Xith District relearned something more than merely "sticking" type.

Ported 175 members with headquarters at No. pressions on one side, was considered a day's work. At that rate, how many men and presses would Mr. DeVinne The want to print the monthly edition of The Century!

Mr. Armstrong was the publisher of Scott's Commen tary on the Bible, a large octavo in six volumes. It was being stereotyped at the Boston type and stereotype foundry in 1824, when I was at the time copyholier, as they call it. After reading the proofs twice, the revise was sent to Mr. Crocker for his supervision. It was my they call it. After resulting the proofs twice, the revise was sent to Mr. Crocker for his supervision. It was my business to take these revises to him, and sometimes I had to stop and read the copy to him; so I used to see him very often, and I remember being struck with his kind and genial manners, he being a man of probably twenty-eight and I a boy of fourteen.

Mr. Armstrong was a successful printer and publisher, he retired from business some fifty years ago with what was then regarded as a fortune and established Mr. Crocker and Mr. Brewster a clerk in his bookstore, as his successors, under the firm name of Crocker & Brewster. With such advantages the use firm prospered famously and in course of time accumulated fortunes, and they, too, retired from active business. Mr. Crocker has the reputation of being a shrewd financier and of having used his capital since his retirement from the book trade to very great advantage. Where is the typo of to-day who is going live to be a nonogenarian, and in the enjoyment of a fortune accumulated by himself? I hope there is at least one in every printing office.

be had. All hydro carbons are charged by heat and air. The old sperm whale oil had just exactly, this experience. When the whales were so numerous and so near at hand that in a few months the whale oil was delivered from the killed whale to the consumer there was no difficulty with sperm oil. In my boyhood days the not eight months old sperm oil burned with a clear light all night. Sperm oil held in ships holds two or three years in the hot Pacific seas never could be timeered up to burn a half night, no matter how good it appeared.

And this is repeated in petroleum. The money-mad well owners have pumped oil, stored it in hot iron tanks above ground and held it there until no art or distillation can exist make good merchantable burning oil of it. To make matters worse, the lines of pipe, running on the top of the ground all the hot season through, are the very means to burn the life out of it and cause the same changes that all oils, animal, mineral or vegetable, undergo in hot sir and hot vessels.

Hence for the defence of the right of the Nation and of us all in petroleum, we need acts of Congress that shall prohibit the punping of wells any faster than the consumption of oil requires; and that pumping of pipe lines be stopped from May 10 to November I cach year; and the pipes emptied and cleaned, as well as barrels in which oil is put.

Certainly it is not beyond human wisdom to manage which oil is put.

Certainly it is not beyond human wisdom to manage this whole subject. The old oil should be used as a lubricant; and only fresh petroleum be pumped and made for burning. And Congress should compet the economic use of wells and petroleum and its products.

A DRUNKEN MAN GORED BY A BULL AT A FAIR CORRY, Penn., Oct. 3 (Special) .- At the county fair here yesterday a drunken man, Conrad Sullivan was noting the fine points of a thoroughbred shorthorn bull. The animal broke loose and created the wildest kind of a papie on the fair ground. The bull charged on Sullivan, knocked him down and tossed him twelve feet into the air goring him aeriously, perhaps fatally. The usual stakes were from fifty cents to a dollar, but this did not seem large enough, and he dropped a "V" on the red—and lost. Then he watched the twe slick young feilows, who were "on the inside," for a minute or two, apparently sixing up the lay-out. "Now," said he, "if you will give that wheel a turn, and both get away from the table, I'll just go you twenty I can call the turn. I think you are working that with your feet." It was agreed, and the wheel was sent whirling, the limb of the law dropping a $20 bill on his ace, and on the right one. If he had called the turn. THE CAMPAIGN IN KINGS COUNTY. DEMOCRATIC OFFICEHOLDERS TO BE NOMINATED-

THE REPUBLICAN CANVASS. The Democratic General Committee of Kings County will meet in Brooklyn this evening. The principal business will probably be the selection of dates for the primaries and nominating conventions, to be held about the middle of this month. This will be the first decided step in the campaign. The candidates to be nominated include four members of Congress, twelve members of Assembly, a City Judge. District-Attorney, two Coroners, a City Confroller, both City and County Auditors, and a dozen Supervisors. The incumbents of such of these offices as are now held by Democrats expect renomination, and it is reasonably certain that Congressmen Mahoney, Campbell, and Bilss, the ten Democratic Assemblymen, Controller Brinkerhoff, and Anditors Voege, and Lake will be voted for next month.

Anditors Voege, and Lake will be voted for next month.

Boss" McLaughlin has set the seal of his approval upon them.
It is thought possible that District-Attorney Ridgway will not be named to succeed himself, on account of the severe criticism passed upon the management of his office for the last three years. A strong effort is teing made to suppress pool-selling in Kings County, and it the feeling is thought to be too strong to warrant hope of Mr. Ridgway's success at the polls, he will not be renominated. But unless the opposition to him certres upon some Republican of acknowledged strength, he will be the candidate. The fact that W. C. Beecher is in the field as a Probibition candidate materially assists Mr. Ridgway's prospects. For City Judge the contest for the nomination now lies between Thomas E. Pearsall and W. J. Osborne, and it will take the nod of the "Buss" to secure the choice of either one. There are numerous aspirants for the lucrytive office of Coroner, but to secure the places now held by popular Republicans will not be an easy task for any Democratic candidate.

The October meeting of the Kings County Republican (Communities will not be seld until Tuesday of

The October meeting of the Kings County Republican General Communities will not be held until Tuesday of next week, when the dates of primaries and conventions will be dixed. The Republican Campaign Committee will open its new heariquarters in Smith as, near Fultonst. to-morrow. A feature of the campaign will be the circulation among voters of timely true a upon topics of popular interest. popular interest.

A meeting of Anti-Saloon Republicans will be held this evening in the Palace Kink, in Clermont-ave., Brooklyn. Judge Noah Davir, ex-secretary of the Treasury William Windom, the Rev. Dr. George E. Reed, the Rev. Dr. J. D. Fulton and others are to speak.

THE CONTEST IN BURLEIGH'S DISTRICT. FOUR CANDIDATES IN THE FIELD AND ALL GOOD MEN.

FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNES TROY, Oct. 3 .- There promises to be a close contest when the Republican Congressional Convention for the XVIIIth District meets in this city on Thursday. The district is composed of the counties of Kensselser and Washington, and the Republican majority is sufficiently large to make a nomination equivalent to an election if the candidate has ability and a good reputation. For four years the district has been represented at Washington by Henry G. Burleigh, of Whitehall, Wasnington County. Mr. Burleigh by his fine business ability, has won a fortune. When he turned his attention to politics he displayed the same energy tha he had shown in accumulating wealth. He quickly became one of the leaders of the Republican election of William M. Evarts for Senator in 1885 and of General Husted as Speaker of the Assembly the present year. In Washington he worked actively for his constituents and it is believed he has thoroughly satisfied them. The greatiron manufacturing companies in this city are especially pleased with his work, he having taken a leading part in the debate on the Morrison Tariff bill and favored the retention of large duty on Still, Mr. Burleigh has had two terms in Congress and there are other Republicans who think that they would represent the district as well as he does. The opposition candidates all live in Reusselaer County, which will have twenty-five votes in the convention while Washington County has only seventeen votes. The delegates from Rensselaer County, therefore, are in the majority, and if united on one man they could control the convention. Fortunately for Mr. Burleigh, who is backed by the seventeen delegates of Washington County, the Rensselaer delegates are divided there are three Congressional candidates in the county One is ex Assemblyman S. D. Locke, of Hoosick Falls, Mr. Locke was one of the most prominent members of the Assembly in 1884. He was a quiet and made few speeches, but he had large influence in consequence of his excellent judgment and high character. A second candidate is ex-congressman Martin J. Townsend. For several years Mr. Townsend has been United States District-Attor-ncy for the Northern District of New-York. Before that he represented the District in Congress. As a Congress-man so well anown did he become that he was chosen to make the speech hominating General Arthur for the Presidency at the Republican Sational Convention in 1884. The thiri candidate is Senaror Comstock, who made such an excellent record as Assembly-man in 1880 that he was nominated for Sen-nitr in 1883 from the XVith Senator al District, Wash-ington and Rensselaer Counties, and renominated in 1885 for the Senate. Mr. Comstock is not a candidate for Congressman in the ordinary sense of the term. He is not seeking the nomination. He is, however, the sec-ond choice of the Washington County delegates, and the first choice of some of the Rensselaer County delegates. de represented the District in Congress. As a Congress

THE WOMEN MAY WANT TO VOTE. ANY WAY THEY THINK THEY ARE ENTITLED TO SUFFRAGE.

ALBANY, Oct. 3 .- Hamilton Willcox, chairman of the Executive Committee of the New-York State Committee of the Woman Suffrage party, wrote on November 19, 1885, to Anson S. Wood, Deputy Secretary of State, for information concerning the State election laws. In the letter occurred these words:

laws. In the letter occurred these words:

In the "Election Code," farmished by your office to election officers, the sections of Article 1 of the Constitution which secure suffrage to women are omitted, while section 1 of Article 2 which secures it is, men, and taken alone is claimed to exclude women, is printed. Section 695 of "forms and instructions" appended to this "Code" states that "a person to vote must be a male citizen"; and this statement has been the pretical the last election for many inspectors of election to deny to many duly qualified citizens the suffrage to which the yare by law entitled.

In ins official causeity Mr. Wood repited:

The statement that a person to vote must be a mule citizen was simply copied rom an earlier publication; and its repro-vas simply copied from an earlier publication; and its repro-lection was not designed to predjudice the rights of any one In his unofficial capacity, after retiring from the office of Deputy Secretary of State, Mr. Wood wrote to Hamilton Willcox, under date of September 15, 1886, a letter containing the following clause:

containing the following clause:

For an inspector of election to refuse to administer the oath to any challenged person when that person demands that it be administered is as act not only unwarranted, but positively toroidden by the election law, which requires that the oath shalf be administered if demanded. • o refuse to administer the oath is punishable as a mislemeanor. The conclusion seems to be almost irresultable that any inspector who refuses registry (when required) or to accept the vote of any person who appears and offers to take the oath required falls to do his duty and violates the law.

Taking courage from these opinions the Woman Sufragists make them public through the medium of the wapapers with this comment: It will be seen that Colonel Wood, who is a leading author

From this it would appear that the Woman Suffragists intend to try to vote.

EX-MAYOR COOPER'S RETUR HE KNOWS NOTHING ABOUT POLITICS-THE COUNTY

DEMOCRACY WILL OFFER HIM A RECEPTION. Among the passengers on the steamer Bourtoghe, which arrived from Havre yesterday, were ex-Mayor Edward Cooper and Mrs. Cooper, Mr. Cooper's son-in-law, Lloyd Bryce, went down to Quarantine, while Mrs. Bryce awaited ner parents on the pier. Mr Cooper was a little bronzed by exposure to the sun. He been beneficial to Mrs. Cooper, who was in delicate health when they sailed in June last. They had visited parts of France, Austria and Germany, principally the ast two countries.

Mr. Cooper was asked what course he intended to pursue in politics, in view of the fact that he had been mentioned prominently as a candidate for Mayor.
"I ready cannot say anything on politics," he replied, him to be a candidate for the Mayoralty in the present NATIONAL CAPITAL TOPICS.

WHO WILL BUILD THE NEW CRUISERS! SECRETARY WHITNEY FORCED TO HAVE THE DE-

SIGNS MADE BY BUREAU OFFICERS. Washington, Oct. 3 .- The Navy Depart ment seems to be somewhat in a quandary, and what was seriously hoped for—that none of the American shipbuilders would present bids for building the new cruisers—is about to result, because of the stringent conditions of Secretary Whitney's circular. What has fright ened the shipbutiders is the clause that "every success ful bidder will be required within twenty days after the acceptance of his proposal to enter into formal contract for the performance of his work and to give a bond therefor, with sufficient sureties, and with a penasum equal to one-fourth of his bid. The three cruisers must be completed within eighteen months from the execution of the respective contracts." This shipbuliders realize would virtually cause the locking up of a big sum of money, and that eighteen months for building the larger vessels is too limited.

It is the impression that this possible condition of things was appreciated by the Navy Department, and that in such event Secretary Whitney could then go be fore Congress and say : "You see what I have done to get these vessels built in private shipyards and been unsuccessful. Now, there is nothin left for me to do but to build them in the navy yards." To take this latter course the Government would have to put in its plant to get out the plates, angle irons, etc., but could also utilize the navy yards to employ a large to put in its plant to get out the plates, angle irons, etc., but could also utilize the navy yards to employ a large number of voters and keep them employed throughout the next Presidential campaign. Secretary Whitney has, through Acting-Secretary D. B. Harmony, directed the various bureaus of the Navy Department to prepare designs for the new armored vessels, to be used in case no satisfactory designs are submitted by those invited to prepare them and who have been indifferent up to this time. The following is a part of a new order issued to the chiefs of bureaus:

Referring to the provisions of the Act entitled, "An Act to Increase the Naval Establishment," approved August 3, 1886, relating to the construction of two seasons double-bottomed armorest vessels of about 6,000 tons displacement; referring also to the notice and circular under date of the 21st uit., inviting designs for such vessels from naval architects and others, I have to state that in view of the possibility that no satisfactory plans may be furnished in pursuance of such action, it is deemed advisable that the Department may be prepared with designs of its own in case of the non-acceptance of any designs or plans that may be furnished under the notice referred to. To this end it is also deemed advisable that the Bureaus of Equipments, Orinance, Construction and Repair, and Steam Engineering should proceed without delay to prepare plans for the consruction of the armored vessels authorized by the Act referred to, and the Chiefs of the Bureaus of Equipment and Recruiting, Ordinance and Steam Engineering should, together with Naval Constructor T. D. Wilson, U. S. N., meet as frequently as may be necessary for cause to be performed, with as little delay as practicable, such parts of the pinns of the yessels in question as pertain to the Bureau of Construction and Repair, and settling upon the general characteristics of such vessels.

You are therefore requested to take such steps as may be necessary to cause to be performed, with as little delay

KEEPING THE PUBLIC IN THE DARK. DISTRICT COMMISSIONERS WITHHOLDING DETAILS OF THEIR ESTIMATES.

Washington, Oct. 3 (Special) .- Some unfavorable comment is excited by the refusal of the Com missioners of the District of Columbia to present a de-tailed statement of their estimates for the improvement of roads, streets and avenues for the next fiscal year. The amount of the estimates is $405,000. Commissioner Wheatley was asked if he would furnish for publication a schedule of the streets that it is proposed to improve. He replied that he could not do that secause none had been made. The law requires that the Commissioners should submit to the Secretary of the Treasury a statement showing in detail the work proposed to be undertaken by them during the fisca year next ensuing and the estimated cost thereof. Commenting on this provision and on Commissioner Wheatley's statement, The Republic of to-day says:

Why is not the location of the proposed improvements nade public! What better right has the Secretary of made public! What better right has the Secretary of the Treasury to this information than the number citizen of the District! Is there any good reason for keeping this information from the public! We don't think there is. The man who pays his taxes has a right to know where and how it is proposed to spend his money. We would not like to accuse our Commissioners of being engaged in any scheme for the benefit of any person or persons, but this secrecy is a very poor way of inspiring the confidence of the public. It creates a suspicion of jobbery of some kind.

One reason suggested by a friend of the Commissioners for their reticence is that they have received petitions for their reticence is that they have received petitions om property-holders in different parts of the city and District for improvements which would cost more than District for improvements which would cost more than $2,000,000 the next year, and that in view of this large excess over any estimate which is likely to be granted by Congress, the Commissioners think the easiest way to produre the appropriations actually necessary is to keep property-holders in the dark until the estimates shall have reached Congress in December.
